

Training Design and Delivery on Participatory Monitoring and Evaluation Tools for Public Policies

Context

The scope of the project was to develop the Training Manual on Participatory Monitoring & Evaluation Tools for national and regional development policies documented in NSSD and RDSs and based on this Manual, to provide 5 training sessions for civil society organizations (CSOs) on participatory monitoring and evaluation tools.

The main activities:

- URI's staff organized various meetings with UNDP CO to review regional development strategies and the process that led to them and focus on baseline development indicators and targets over years to measure the progress of the national and regional policies. Designed a Training Manual on participatory monitoring and evaluation tools for national/regional development based on RDS and NSSD and NSDI together with the Training Modules;
- Consulted these documents with the UNDP CO till to a final draft;
- The training manual was designed according to the needs of the participants as well as the TOR requests.
- URI presented also the methodology for - designing the training manual and delivering the requested trainings (5 regional trainings).

- URI designed the training manual on Participatory Monitoring and Evaluation Tools based on adult learning principles targeting NGO sector and local government. The training delivery methodology is interactive.
- URI presented a detailed Work- Plan with all activities planned to be undertaken.
- URI used the UNDP CS Needs Assessment Report and Regional Development Strategies (RDS) for Fier and/or Kukes along with Fier RDS Progress Report as guidance.
